For the third consecutive year, Re:Voir and The Film Gallery reunite an entirety of works representative of the history of cinematic creation.

The presented artists are or were the initiators of certain major artistic movements such as Dadaism, Letterism, Fluxus... and weave common threads of influence between these movements.

Employed in this way, cinema is completely connected to the history of art, complete with dialog bound to painting, sculpture, poetry, installations, performance art and all other fields of the visual arts.
